EDITORIAL.

ADEN with the harmony and gayety of college life, the "KALEIDOSCOPE" again warmly greets you. You, who both in time and space have strolled a long way from our "Alma Mater," do we cordially salute. And we trust that you will find the Kaleidoscope a truthful "souvenir" of the enjoyment of your own college career.

You, who have never joined our old and everblessed family, we kindly greet. We hope that by having rolled away the clouds that mysteriously envelop college life you shall be enabled to behold—and that too with hearty approval—the pleasures of our consonant family.

In this edition of the Kaleidoscope, utility has been our aim, and if we cannot claim the approval, yet we seek the indulgence of its patrons.
Three years of College life have sped swiftly away, bearing with them their burdens of varying joys and sorrows, and the opening of another year forcibly reminds us that we must soon leave the scenes which are endeared to us by a thousand pleasant recollections. The course of study which, three years since, seemed so long and so laborious, so full of toil and weariness is passing rapidly, only too rapidly, and we find that in reality we have even now and almost unawares nearly reached the point which in prospect appeared so far distant. All too rapidly have the years flown away, too soon will the time that remains slip by, too near seems the moment when we shall be obliged to bid friends farewell, to leave classmates, companions and home. For college is truly a home in every sense of the word, and around it, as around the homes of childhood will ever cling many fresh memories. The four years of a college course should be the happiest period of the student's life, both while passing and when passed. For fast are the friendships formed, pleasant are the paths he treads, free from vexation and care are the hours and the days.

In common duties performed, in common difficulties met and overcome, in common toils and common triumphs, we, as classmates, have found that satisfaction which only college students can know. From united efforts, united aims and united interests, has arisen that mutual good feeling and good will which only classmates can experience, which only working side by side and for one common end can give.

We are sure that in coming years, whatever our fortunes may be, wherever we may wander, we shall always turn back to our college experiences as among the happiest of our lives, and to the years spent here as the pleasantest and most profitable. And, though, after this year our names shall disappear from college catalogues, and we who so long have toiled together shall separate, yet shall we all often think of '75, and each of us believe that he has friends for life in those whose classmate and fellow worker he has been for four long years.
At last we have come to a sudden and glorious turn on the river of our college life. Hitherto we have seen much stormy weather, and have passed through many strange experiences. The waters have been high, the currents swift, and the whirlpools dangerous. The monsters of the deep beneath have opened their jaws to devour us; and the dark clouds of the heavens above, surcharged with the electric fluid, have threatened to deafen us with the roar of their thunder, and to extinguish us with the breath of their lightning. The poetic ghosts and the prosy roots, the dangerous shoals and the sombre depths of Greek Literature, which for a long time disturbed our peace by day, and haunted our dreams by night, have been safely passed, and are already vanishing in the dim distance. Analytics and Calculus, after attempting in vain to terrify us with their various forms and phases, curves and co-ordinates, we at last captured, and, with due ceremonies, in the presence of all college, and under the kind supervision of Coggio's cornet, we immolated on the altar of Vulcan, and dedicated as a thankoffering to the immortal gods!

We come to Junior year with merriest hearts and clearer heads from having had the experience and the discipline of the past two years. We rejoice that most of the drudgery of our course is over. The remainder will be easier and smoother. But our work is not yet finished, and of this we are glad. We now enter upon pleasanter fields, engage in nobler pursuits, and breathe a more congenial atmosphere. Already our souls are held spell-bound by the wondrous elements and forces, laws and phenomena, met within the domains of science and metaphysics. We feel that our minds are now occupied with themes worthy of their divine source and increased strength—themes, which, if thoroughly mastered, will enable us to solve the easier the Problem of Life, to fulfill the better the end of our existence, and to arrive the sooner at the full stature of Perfect Manhood!
The predominant qualities which characterize class certainly begin to develop themselves, when they arrive at the dignity of Sophomore year. They have by that time come to some unity and individuality. We may at least judge so if '77 be taken as a criterion. The characteristics which have become her's are prominent, and her excellent qualities need no herald to call attention to them. They speak for themselves.

We look back over our past year with feelings mingled with pleasure and regret. Pleasure—that we are now free from the toils and menial service of Freshman year, that we have advanced one year farther up the hill of science and that the circle of our intellectual vision and conception of thought has been increased. Regret—that our college life so soon seems to be ebbing away (and that one of our number left us so early in our course). But we cheerfully receive those who have united themselves with us since we first entered upon our college life, and extend to them the right hand of fellowship, feeling that she will be augmented not only in number, but also by honest and upright men. In looking back over the past year we can but feel, that on the whole, our course has been such as becomes gentlemen and that we have done nothing, as a class, which would reflect upon our honor, or for which we should feel any pangs of remorse.

On the whole our first year has passed away very pleasantly, and the commencement of our second year is still more auspicious. We have entered upon our second year with our spirits revivèd and our number increased, to proceed in the footsteps of those who were "Sophs" before us, taking warning from their failures and ready to imitate their virtues.

Our life thus far, as Sophomore, has been very peaceful, being composed of men whose minds aspire to loftier and more ennobling deeds, than has been the custom of our predecessors. May we at the commencement of each new year of our course have as good a reason for being satisfied. And when at length we have finished our college life and shall have engaged in the active pursuits of life, may we be recognized by that same spirit which has hitherto been our incentive to duty—the true spirit of '77.
We, the present Freshman class of Middlebury College, have finally attained the object for which we have striven in our several preparatory schools, and have assembled from the city, the town and the country, to sit at the feet of our "Alma Mater" and receive instruction from her lips. Thus far we have found her a very kind and pleasant instructress, and hope always to thus find her. With pleasure do we accept our every day duties and with hearty-good will do we try to perform them. With what feelings we enter upon our college course can only be appreciated by those who have been in the same circumstances. We have listened to the euphonious wailings of the vain-glorious Sophs, but have only said "Blow on." We have been surprised at the apparent short sightedness of the Professors in discovering marks of genius in us, but have only said "Such is it ever with genius." We are striving to conduct ourselves in such a manner that when we go forth in life, our kind "Alma Mater" may never blush to say that the Class of '78 was sheltered by her wings from the storms of ignorance and error.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

For admission to the Freshman Class, candidates are examined in the following studies:

Latin Grammar, including the Rules of Prosody and Scanning; Caesar's Commentaries, four books, or Sallust's Conspiracy of Catiline; Cicero, six orations, including the four against Catiline; Virgil, the Bucolics, and six books of the Æneid; Arnold's Latin Prose Composition, to the VIIth Chapter.

Greek Grammar; Xenophon's Anabasis, four books; Homer's Illiad, two books.

Ancient and Modern Geography.

Arithmetic; Algebra, to Equations of the Second Degree, and three books of Loomis' Geometry.

Real equivalents will be accepted in place of any of the Latin or Greek authors named above.

Greater familiarity with the contents of the Latin and Greek Grammars than is usually found in candidates is desirable, in order to accomplish successfully the subsequent course of study.
Students may be admitted to an advanced standing, provided that, in addition to the requisites for admission to the Freshman Class, they are found, on examination, thoroughly acquainted with the several studies of the class which they propose to join. Candidates for such standing should, however, be informed that in consequence of the thorough discipline of the first College year, and the exactness of knowledge which is required of classes, no one can hope, if admitted, to maintain a respectable standing, unless he comes with a high degree of previous preparation. Indeed, it is highly important to the unity and completeness of a liberal education, that the students should enter College at the commencement of the course. The disadvantages incurred by those who postpone an entrance to a later period are much more serious than is commonly supposed.

Every student admitted to an advanced standing (with the exception of those who come from other colleges), is required to pay a fee of $5.00, if he enters after the expiration of the Fall Term of the Freshman year; and of $10.00, if after the expiration of the Fall Term of the Sophomore year.

Candidates for admission must bring a certificate of good moral character; and, if from another college, of their regular dismissal and good standing. When a young man has been examined and admitted to college, he is required to attend the prescribed exercises, and is subject to the laws of the Institution.

To the Senior Class:
Mental Philosophy, Fall Term.
Political Economy, Fall Term.
English Literature, Fall Term.
History of Civilization, Spring Term.
History of Philosophy, Spring Term.
Astronomy, Spring Term.
Butler's Analogy, Summer Term.
International Law, Summer Term.
GERMAN STUDIES.

During the Summer Term of the Sophomore Year, and the Spring Term of the Junior Year, prominence will be given to the study of the German Language, and facilities will be afforded for further prosecuting the study.

DECLAMATION AND COMPOSITION.

The Classes speak by divisions, in the Chapel, Wednesday afternoon, for which exercise the members of the two upper Classes are required to prepare original pieces. In all cases the speakers are prepared for the exercise by previous rehearsal before the Professor of Elocution.

Written Translations of Latin and Greek into English are required of the Freshman Class, until the close of the Fall Term. From that time onward, English Compositions are read.

RECORD OF MERIT.

A class-book is kept by each instructor, in which the character of each student's recitation is noted by numbers and all absences from College exercises are minuted. Demerits for absences and other irregularities are also marked in like manner, and made the basis of discipline. At the close of each Term the average of these marks is recorded, and when desired, communicated to parents or guardians.

EXAMINATIONS.

At the close of the Fall Term there is a public examination of all the classes in the studies pursued during the Term. At the close of the Collegiate year the several classes are examined in the studies of the year. The examination is protracted and severe, and is conducted in the presence of a committee of gentlemen appointed for the purpose, who report to the corporation respecting the proficiency and deportment of the students.

COLLEGE HONORS.

On the "Record of Merit," including recitations, examinations and fidelity, the Faculty, under the direction of the Corporation, have arranged a scheme of honorary appointments for Junior Exhibition and Commencement. They have aimed to devise a plan that will secure the advantages of honorable emulation, and, at the same time, avoid many of the incidental evils of College distinctions.

PUBLIC PERFORMANCES.

Commencement, on the third Wednesday in July. Notice specially invited to this change, by which Commencement is to come nearly a month earlier than formerly.

Parkerian and Hulburd Prize Speaking on Tuesday evening the Oration before the Phi Beta Kappa Society, and the Anniversary of the Associated Alumni, on Tuesday, before Commencement.

Exhibition of the Junior Class, at the close of the Spring Term.

CABINET AND LIBRARIES,

The Cabinet is designed chiefly for the benefit of the Classes in Natural History, but is accessible to all students. It contains two thousand seven hundred specimens in Zoology, four hundred specimens in Botany, fifteen hundred specimens in Mineralogy, one thousand of which, presented by the State, are separately arranged.

These specimens are all placed under their respective classes, and conspicuously labeled. Valuable accessions have been received from some of the Alumni, and the aid of others is requested.

The College Library now contains more than 11,000 volumes, and by a recent act of the Corporation a permanent fund has been established for its enlargement.

In addition to this, the Alumni have, during the past year, taken measures to secure a permanent Library Fund of $5,000. A considerable portion has already been subscribed, and the income will soon be available for the purchase of new books.

Besides the College Library, the Institution contains valuable Libraries belonging to the Philomathesian and Philadelphian Societies.

Beneficent Funds.

The Waldo Fund, given by the late Mrs. Catherine Waldo, of Boston, and the Baldwin Fund, received from the estate of the late John C. Baldwin, Esq., of Orange, N. J., furnish liberal aid in payment of term bills of students. The income of these Funds is used,

1. In canceling term bills for tuition, room rent and other charges, for twelve students, three from each class, whose scholarship and deportment warrant such distinction.

2. In canceling, in whole or in part, the term bills of such other students as are provided for by the terms of the legacies.

The income of the Warren Fund is applied in payment of the term bills of those who are preparing for the Gospel Ministry. Such students can also receive aid from the American Education Society, usually to the amount of $100 annually.
A Scholarship Fund has been secured, which may be made available to those whose circumstances require it. The control of these scholarships is in the hands of individual proprietors; but young men of good character and correct deportment can usually obtain assistance from this source. These scholarships pay tuition—$45.00.

In addition to these, the following scholarships recently provided by donations of $1,000 each, yield to the persons placed upon them by the donor, the sum of $60.00 a year:

By assistance from the Beneficiary Funds or from a scholarship, those students whose circumstances require it, can be provided for to the extent of three-fourths, and in most instances, to the full amount of their College bills. It is to be understood that negligence or misconduct will forfeit beneficiary aid.
PREMIUMS.

The income of the Literary Fund, $44.00 a year, is awarded to one or more of the members of the College, whose scholarship and fidelity in the discharge of their duties may entitle them to such a distinction.

The Philosophical Prize of $15.00, arising from a fund given by Rev. George N. Boardean, D.D., is awarded to a member of the Senior Class for the best Essay upon a subject in Philosophy, to be assigned by the Professor in that department.

By the liberality of George W. Ware, Jr., A.M., of Boston, a Gold Medal of the value of $50.00 is awarded to the member of each Graduating class who is judged to excel in the composition and delivery of his Commencement Oration.

The Parkerian and Hulburd Prizes are given to the two of the four competitors in each of the three lower Classes, who on Parkerian evening are judged the best speakers.

A Botanical Prize of $20.00 is awarded annually in the Junior Class.

PAYMENT OF BILLS.

[Extract from College Laws.]

"The several sums charged in the Term-bills shall be considered as due and payable as soon as the Bills are made up according to law. And in all cases where the Term-bills are not paid within three months after they shall have become due, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to report the same to the Faculty, and the duty of the Faculty to call the delinquent before them; and if no satisfactory reason for the delinquency be assigned, either to write to their parents or guardians, or suspend them from the privileges of the institution till payment shall have been made."

DEGREE OF MASTER OF ARTS.

On payment of the usual fee of four dollars, the degree of A. M. will be conferred on those graduates of three years' standing who have been engaged in literary pursuits. Application should be made to the President or Treasurer, as early as the day before Commencement.
